Welcoming gods ritual
The ritual to welcome gods from around Japan on the night of October tenth.

◆ How to worship at Izumo Taisha ◆
Praying at shrines
At most shrines, you should bow twice, clap twice, and bow a final time. At Izumo Taisha, the proper way is to bow twice, clap four times, and bow a final time.

Enshrines Okuninushi of Izumo mythologies

1 Izumo Taisha Grand Shrine

One of the oldest shrines in Japan that enshrines Okuninushi and a popular spiritual spot of successful relationships. According to "The Kojiki" and "The Nihon Shoki", Izumo Taisha was originally built as a great palace at the time of "transfer of the land of Okuninushi". The current main shrine was built in 1744 at a height of 24 meters. The shrine was designated as a national treasure in 1952. Building renovations (Sengu) take place every 60 years and the latest renovation just finished recently.

Tea culture rooted in Matsue Harusato Matsudaira (Fumaiko)

The tea ceremony has deep roots in Matsue. Together with Kyoto and Kanazawa, Matsue is known as a city of Japanese confectionery. Many authentic confectioneries were created to be offered to Harusato, a feudal lord in the Edo era who was famous as a master of tea ceremony.

A great writer who loved the city Yakumo Koizumi (Lafcadio Hearn)

Yakumo was assigned as an English teacher at Matsue Junior High school and lived in the city for the rest of his life. He was deeply impressed with the local culture and customs and retold a number of ghost stories originally told by his wife, Setsu.
